

Emily Pozek

Dance Instructor

Emily Pozek is a graduate of University of Florida where she earned her B.F.A. in Dance Performance and her M.A. in Arts in Medicine. She danced professionally for four years with the Walt Disney World Company in Orlando, FL where she was apart of multiple shows and parades. She attended Virginia School of the Arts in Lynchburg, VA for her pre professional training under the direction of Tyrone Brooks and Petrus Bosman. Her background is in classical ballet and modern technique. Emily is a member of Cecchetti Council of America under which she holds teaching certificates for the method. Currently Emily is the Dancer in Residence for UF Health Center for Arts in Medicine where she leads Dance for Life a dance class for people living with Parkinson's disease and a adjunct professor at the University of Florida's dance department.