

Caley Rappa

Dance Instructor

Caley Rappa is from Orlando, Florida and is currently a first-grade teacher at P.K. Yonge Developmental Research School. Caley has been dancing since she was three years old and has been trained in various dance styles such as Ballet, Tap, Jazz, Modern, Acrobatics, Contemporary, and Lyrical. She has competed in a variety of dance competitions including Star Quest and International Dance Challenge and has performed at Disney Springs. Caley received her undergraduate degree in Elementary Education from the University of Florida in 2016 and her Master's in Elementary Education in 2017. While attending UF, Caley danced with Floridance, UF's original student-run dance company, and served the company as an executive officer for two years. During this time, she choreographed several group pieces, coordinated service and social events, and collaborated with other dancers. After graduating, she knew that she wanted to share her love of dance and technique with others. Caley is so excited to work with such a talented group of instructors and dancers.
